GENERAL NEWS.

Another Snap on Sunday Night Does Great Damage to Crops.

American Arbitration to Settle the Tonquin Difficulty Talked of.

Jas. G. Blaine Makes a Prediction About the Presidency.

The Cold Snap

CINCINNATI, September 10.—The frost is reported very generally throughout Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky for the past two mornings. Opinion varies as to its effect on corn. A report from Kentucky says all tobacco on low grounds and creek bottoms is ruined. Vegetables everywhere are injured. The weather is warmer to-day.

BLOOMINGTON, Ills, September 10—Frost did but slight damage to the corn crop in this vicinity except in low places

MILWAUKEE, Wis, September 10—There was a heavy frost in Milwaukee county last night and corn on low lands was killed

ROCK ISLAND, Ills, September 10—Advices from the country represent the frost of Sunday morning as doing great damage on lowlands. Late corn and potatoes are generally killed. On high ground the damage is trifling, if any. The real loss that farmers sustain is potatoes, as the corn that has been killed was not counted as good for much except for stock feed.

LINCOLN, Neb., September 10.—No frost in southern Nebraska yet. Corn is ripening slowly. The weather is bright, clear and warmer. If frost holds off three weeks there will be a large crop

ELMIRA, N. Y., September 10.—The Chemung valley tobacco crop was damaged $100,000 by frost last night.

JACKSON, Mich, September 10.—There was a hard frost Saturday and Sunday night in this section. Farmers say the corn crop is ruined.

ST. PAUL, Minn., September 10.—The Chicago & St. Paul and Minneapolis & Omaha railways have received general reports from stations to-day indicating that frost was severe throughout southern Minnesota, northern Iowa and eastern Nebraska and corn is badly injured.

The Asiatic Trouble.

LONDON, September 10.—The Daily Telegraph has the following from Paris: It is affirmed that a telegram was sent from Paris to Pekin on Saturday evening asking the American minister to sound the Chinese government on the subject of American arbitration, if such were suggested by France. The telegram added that Earl Granville was aiding British arbitration but the moment had arrived to assert the commercial influence of America in Chinese seas

The Telegraph says, "The foregoing dispatch may have been sent, but it is most unlikely that it emanated from an official source. The American legation here would hardly have forwarded it on its own responsibility and had the United States government desired to sound China it would have communicated directly with the American minister at Pekin.

HONG KONG, September 10.—It is reported that the Chinese are erecting defenses between Canton and the mouth of the river. The question here now is not will there be war but when and where will the war begin.

PARIS, September 10. The belief gains ground that the Tonquin question will ultimately be settled through the arbitration of England or America The Marquis Tseng has gone to London. The appointment of Patenotre minister to China vice Tricon is gazetted.

TOULON, September 10.—The French transport Ancyron has sailed with 600 troops and six guns for Tonquin.

PARIS, September 10.—All the evening papers insist upon the necessity for continuing dispatches of reinforcements to Tonquin.

PARIS, September 10. If articles in the Republique Francaise represent the views of the French minister, a Chinese war is merely a question of days, and will involve the expulsion of a ministry that entered upon a war which the country utterly rejects

Blaine's Belief

BOSTON, September 10.—The Herald says there comes from Maine a well authenticated story that certain local democratic leaders called upon Blaine at Augusta and were confidentially informed by him that in his (Blaine's) opinion if Governor Butler could secure re election in Massachusetts this year he would inevitably become the democratic nominee for the presidency and be elected. Blaine added that himself was out of politics, and should under no circumstances be in the field for the presidency next year.

A Novel Feat

CHICAGO, September 10. Quite an innovation was made here in the walking match line by an attempt of Wm. Kitzig, laborer 32 years old, to mount a flight of 45 stairs 300 times in ten hours for a wager. Kitzig began the task at 7:45 this morning and made the trip one hundred times in the first hour and a half, and at 12.30 had climbed the stairway 175 times, when he stopped for dinner and displayed signs of fatigue, but claimed his ability to finish within time specified if not prevented by the police. The estimated distance to be traveled is eight miles of steps. After completing his meal and taking a short rest he resumed his task, showing considerable evidence of weariness, and at 3 o'clock it was evident he could not go on without stimulants. Then he began drinking Rhine wine which was kept up during the afternoon. As its effects stimulated his system he revived, his legs began to swing automatically, and he completed the three hundredth step and won the wager with nineteen minutes to spare A large crowd congregated toward the close, and the police were compelled to clear the streets

Another Go-as-You-Please

BALTIMORE, September 10 —A six days "go as you please" walking match for $2,000 and the championship belt, began after midnight The contestants are Frank Hart, the present holder of the belt, Robert Vint, Albert Ellison, O'Leary, champion of Ireland, Peter Panchot and George Hazael. Panchot went the first mile in seven minutes

BALTIMORE, September 10. Score walking match 12 o'clock. Robert Vint 73 miles; Hazael 40, withdrawn; Frank Hart 111; Peter Panchot 98, Wm O'Leary 36; Albert Ellison 101

Rescued from Death.

NEW YORK, September 10 —The Presbyterian Home Missionary society has the following from Alaska: A party of miners returning from a prospecting tour on the Upper Yukon river ran out of provisions. Becoming too weak to travel the strongest were sent forward to the coast. These reached a Presbyterian mission station at Haines, Alaska, with nothing but their underclothes and in a starving condition, having been without food three or four days Rev. Eugene S. Willard supplied them with food and clothing, and organizing a relief party of Indians, went to the rescue of those left behind. These were found, and after a forced march of two days and nights were brought safely to the station.

Indians Holding Off.

CHICAGO, September 10. Senators Dawes, Logan and Cameron, of the senate committee to consult with the Sioux relative to opening the Sioux reservation to settlement, reached the city to-day on their return trip. They say nothing is definitely settled; that they found certain white men in that section of the country had advised the Indians to hold fast to their reservation as by doing so they could force the government to pay them a larger price than was now proposed. As a consequence the chiefs were found very non-communicative on all subjects which the committee were empowered to talk with them about.

Masked Avengers

LITTLE ROCK, September 10.—On Saturday night a mob of sixteen masked men forcibly entered Yell county jail at Danville, seized John Coker and Dr. Flood, took them to the iron bridge across the Petlet Jean river and hung them from the centre span cross beam. Coker was accused of leading into ambuscade the sheriff's party in search of the Daniels outlaws several weeks ago in which two men were killed. Flood was accused of harboring the outlaws. Coker begged to be shot but was told he must hang. The bodies were discovered and cut down Sunday morning.

A Court Fails to Come to Time.

GALVESTON, September 10. The News' Jefferson special says: The celebrated Marion county bulldozing election case was set for to-day. At the opening of the regular session of the United States district court, the vacancies left by the resignation of Judge Morrill and District Attorney Gutheridge not having been filled, and Judge Pardee, of New Orleans, not being present, no court convened. It is not known what action will be taken in the premises. Most of the defendants were in attendance.

Craft's Day of Doom.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., September 10. Governor Knott has designated October 12th as the day for the execution of Ellis Craft, twice found guilty of a horrible outrage and the murder of the Gibbons children at Ashland, Ky. The court of appeals refused to grant a new trial and Craft will have to follow Bill Ellis, his companion in crime, who confessed and was hanged by a mob. Wm. Neal, the third party, waits trial.

A Second Hint.

MACON, Ga., September 10.—A party of three or four men went to the house of Steve Sosser, a colored farmer, near Arlington, Ga., on Saturday night, set fire to his stable, cotton house and corn crib, completely destroying the buildings with 100 bushels of corn, two bales of cotton and several hogs. Sosser was shot two months ago for being too intimate with a white woman, and warned to leave the vicinity.

Hill's Ultimatum.

NEW YORK, September 10.—Harry Hill stakeholder in the Slade-Mitchell fight, has issued the following ultimatum: "I finally decide that Mitchell and Slade must fight within 100 miles of New Orleans, as I am assured that interference will not take place there: the fight to come off Tuesday, October 23d, next, either man failing to appear in the ring between 8 to 10 a. m. to forfeit."

Strikers' Suits Succeed.

EASTON, Pa., September 10.—Alderman Jones, of Allentown, has decided against the Bethlehem Iron company in forty five suits for $13,000, brought by employes engaged in the late strike, and a portion of whose wages was kept back by the company for bills contracted at its store. It is said 300 more suits will be brought, and their aggregate amount will be between $38,000 and $90,000.

Sorghum Sugar

STERLING, Ks., September 10 The Kansas sugar works turned out to-day twenty barrels of sorghum sugar. The manufacture of commercial sugar from sorghum is an assured fact. These works will turn out one million pounds of sugar this season. The town is wild over the success of the works which will revolutionize agricultural industries in the Arkansas valley.

COLORADO MATTERS.

Alderman Joy, of Leadville, a Brutal Bully,

Assaults the City Editor of the Herald, Perhaps Fatally.

Sale of D. & N. O. Securities Prevented by an Injunction.

D. & N O Bonds.

DENVER, September 10. Up to this time nothing has been heard from New York in regard to the sale of the New Orleans securities, advertised for 10 o'clock this morning. About noon to-day a report was current on the streets that the sale had been again prevented by an injunction, but the rumor could not be trace to any reliable source. None of the gentlemen interested, now in this city, have heard a word, and nothing has been learned at the company's offices. This is regarded by some as an indication that something has occurred to postpone the sale.

NEW YORK, September 10.—An attachment was issued in the suit of Theo. H Friend against the Denver & New Orleans Railroad Construction company. On October 18, 1881, Clark Fisher sold to the company 9,825 patent rail joints at an agreed price of $30,000, which the company promised to pay December 10th. The money was not paid, and Fisher assigned the claim to plaintiff. A temporary injunction was granted, restraining the Denver & New Orleans Railroad Construction company from selling certain shares of stock.

A Reporter Beaten

DENVER, September 10.—This morning Edward D. Cowen, city editor of the Leadville Herald, was brutally assaulted by Alderman Joy of that city. The parties were discussing local politics when Joy took exceptions to a trifling remark of Cowen's, knocked him down and with drawn revolver kept the crowd at bay, jumped on his face with heavy boots, kicked and stamped until he was almost unrecognizable. He will probably die. Joy escaped to the mountains. Cowen is well known in the west as a brilliant young writer of excellent character. Joy is a notorious bully, keeps a low dive and is absolutely devoid of character.

Denver Dots

DENVER, September 10.—The Silverton Democrat Printing company has filed articles of incorporation to engage in the printing and publishing business in Silverton.

The annual meeting of the state Baptist association will commence at the First Baptist church to-morrow.

The fall meeting of the Jockey club will commence October 9th, and continue five days.

The Markets.

NEW YORK, September 10. Money easy at 2 to 2½; prime paper 5½ to 6½; sterling exchange quiet 4.81½, demand 4.85¼; governments steady; railroad bonds higher; states quiet.

Shares opened weak, depressed on reports that the corn crop had been seriously damaged. The decline ranged from ¼ to 1½. For the first fifteen minutes of business the temper of speculation turned and a much stronger feeling prevailed. The change was due to advices that reports of damage had been exaggerated and that the loss was confined to a section where the annual production is comparatively light. This started a fresh buying movement, and prices rose ½ to 2¾. After 2 p. m. under sales to realize, prices receded ¼ to ½, but in the last half hour moved up to the best figures of the day, which were ½ to 3¼ above the lowest. In final sales there was a reaction of ¼ to ½. As compared with Saturday's closing prices are ¼ to 1½ higher. Transactions, 442,000.

Mining stocks to day very dull. Horn Silver sold 7.13 and 7.00; Northern Belle, 0 00 to 0.13; Iron Silver, 3.10; Sierra Grande, 1.05; Little Chief, 48 and 47; Robinson Consolidated, 42 and 41. Sales for the day, 14,250 shares.

Neglect of Duty

WASHINGTON, September 10. It is understood that Paul Van Dur Voort, late chief clerk of the railway mail service at Omaha, recently removed by Postmaster General Gresham for neglect of duty, will shortly make a personal appeal to the president for reinstatement. It is said at the postoffice department that the records of that department, so far as they relate to this case, show the following state of facts: Van Der Voort has been absent from his post of duty most of the time for the year past. During this period his official duties have either been performed by a clerk or entirely neglected. His division superintendent has frequently reported that the service in that section was demoralized by reason of Mr. Van Der Voort's neglect of duty. During the year ended July 31st '83 he was absent from his post 365 days, most of which were spent in working for the Grand Army of the Republic to the entire neglect of his official duty. When remonstrated with by his division superintendent in regard to his absence he promised that immediately after adjournment of the meeting of the G. A. R. at Denver he would go to Omaha and attend to his proper work. But instead of doing so however he went to Soda Springs, Idaho, and remained there until the date of his removal. During part of this time he reported himself to be in Omaha doing office work. He also reported while at Soda Springs that he was arranging service on the Oregon Short Line and telegraphed to Omaha directing his clerk to do that work. He has absented himself from his post of duty without leave and has neglected his duty to such an extent as to call for repeated censure from his division superintendent. His record in the department for a long time past has been one continued disregard for orders, and for these reasons and upon recommendation of Col. Thompson, superintendent of railway mail service, he was removed by the postmaster general

Fires.

LOUISVILLE, September 10—Early this morning fire broke out in the pork house of F A. Smith, at Memfortsville, Hart county, on the Louisville & Nashville railroad, totally destroying it together with the freight depot, W. D. Logsdon's saloon and F. C. Williams' blacksmith shop. Loss on the pork house $75,000, other loss $5,000; insurance $15,000

JACKSONVILLE, Ills, September 10—A freight train coming west to-night was three miles west of this city when lightning struck a car containing two fine horses, which was soon discovered in flames A man supposed to be Scott Pickerell, who had charge of the horses, proceeded to the car, was overcome by the smoke or injured by the horses and burned to death, together with the horses. The stock was consigned to S Pickerell, Alexis, Ills

NEW ORLEANS, September 10—The store of M Dowling, commission merchant, was totally destroyed by fire Stocks of Thos. Marsh and Pickard & Meyering were damaged by water and the rear portion of Lewis Bros' slightly damaged. Loss $25,000, fully insured

SAN FERNANDO, Trinidad, September 10. Fire on High street on August 9th destroyed forty houses. The loss is estimated at from £30,000 to £40,000.

Murder Record

EAU CLAIRE, Wis, September 10.—During a row in a house of ill fame on Sunday, Jack Mahoney killed Pat Devine, badly wounded W. J. Crawford, James Keron, alias Rivers, and John McMahon. He was arrested.

GALVESTON, September 10.—The News' Bonham special says: Alexander Warsley was shot and killed by his father-in-law, Clement, at the home of the latter, six miles east, yesterday. Warsley was drunk, and attacked the old man with a club, whereupon Clement drew his pistol.

GOVE, O., September 10.—Charles Shingler instantly killed Fireman Lambert last night by slipping up behind him while walking from church with a young lady and striking him on the head with a boulder. Shingler escaped.

A Bloody Affair.

ST. LOUIS, September 10. Meagre information through police sources was furnished late to-night of one of the most bloody tragedies that has occurred in this city for a long time. It appears that Henry H. Blessing, an engineer, residing at 1451 Cass avenue, made a murderous assault upon his brother in law about half-past 11 o'clock, to-night, firing six shots at him, all of which took effect and will prove mortal. Blessing then fired two shots at his wife, both of which struck her, inflicting dangerous wounds. The infuriated man then escaped from the house and eluded pursuit for an hour, when he was found in the garret of his house with his throat cut from ear to ear, but not dead. He was taken to a dispensary, where he attempted to explain his act, but could not talk on account of the wind pipe being nearly severed. He was then sent to the hospital where his wounded wife and brother-in-law had already been taken and where they lie in a very critical condition. An explanation of the affair has not yet been obtained but it is supposed it originated in a family quarrel and insane jealousy.

Earthquake Shocks.

ST. THOMAS, September 4.—There was a tidal wave in the harbor on August 27. The water receded three times. A sharp earthquake shock was felt at 10 o'clock the following night. On August 30th two shocks were felt almost simultaneously, the first being light, the second severe. There was considerable alarm, but no damage was done.

LIMA, September 10 There was an unusually strong earthquake this morning at 4:10, with a duration of fifteen seconds.

Hill Report Submitted.

WASHINGTON, September 10.—Assistant Secretary New as chairman of the Hill investigating committee to-day submitted to Secretary Folger the report of that committee. It is a voluminous document, taking with arguments of counsel 200 or 300 pages of manuscript. Secretary Folger said, late this afternoon, that he had not yet had time to examine the report but would probably look it over to-night or to-morrow. Assistant Secretary New left Washington this evening for Indianapolis.

Volcanic Changes.

LONDON, September 10.—The commander of the British man of war Swift telegraphs that the great channel in the Strait of Sunda is probably changed. The Agier light has disappeared. The lighthouse on Java Head is uninjured. Dutch authorities are taking every precaution to prevent damage to vessels, and have ordered their ships to cruise at the entrance to the strait for the next three months, to warn vessels of the change in the channel.

Germany's Good Wishes

BERLIN, September 10 —The Tagblatt says the speech delivered by President Villard on the completion of the Northern Pacific railway on Saturday last will make a lasting impression on both sides of the Atlantic, and adds that both here and there all agree in hoping that such a brilliant undertaking may prosper.

Through a Hurricane

LONDON, September 10.—As the Dutch steamer Sheedam from New York to Amsterdam was passing Lizard Point yesterday she signalled that she had experienced a hurricane on September first and there was ten feet of water in the engine room.

NORTHERN PACIFIC.

A Resume of the Work of that Wonderful Corporation.

The Stimulus it has Given to the Settlement of the North.

Some Facts and Figures Given by Commissioner Lamborn.

MR. S. J. Ahern writes from Duluth, Minnesota, to the Boston Transcript the following concerning the Northern Pacific, which has just been completed from the lakes to the Pacific coast. It will be seen that Mr Ahern has obtained much of the valuable information given from one of our former townsmen, Col. Charles B Lamborn.

The Northern Pacific railroad will have joined rails from the eastward to the westward about the time the readers of the Transcript can see these lines, and so I thought you would like a resume of the work of that wonderful corporation, as well as of the movements of the immigrants and emigrants for in these western states some are coming, and some are going; and to get your readers an authoritative picture, I asked Colonel Charles Lamborn, land commissioner of the Northern Pacific road, to give your readers an idea of where the uneasy American is moving to, for he is on the march, and also to give such facts and figures about the great west as those on the hillsides of the old Bay State would be interested in. The gentleman kindly consented, and let me say that he is well fortified by observation along the line, for he is in St. Paul to-day, and in Portland, Oregon, to morrow.

Making allowance, then, for the natural warmth that an honest man would feel in presenting his own property or that of the corporation of which he is a faithful servant, you have from his intelligent point of view one of the most faithful records of the moving of humanity in our day. I may remark upon a singular feature in this westward march of the American. Colonel Lamborn says that in the main the people who are moving now moved once before, that is to say, they moved a quarter or a third of a century ago from New England or York state or Pennsylvania into Indiana or Michigan There they got cheap lands; that land has enhanced in value in their hands and now they sell out and with money in the wallet they move again for cheap lands. He says he can tell by the inquiry where a man is from; if he asks for a good bit of timber land he is from Michigan, and if he asks for a few hundred acres of clean prairie the chances are the man is from Indiana. But I will not detain you longer from Colonel Lamborn's story:

"One of the remarkable features of the immigration of the years 1882 and 1883 has been the rapid growth of that portion of the country west and north of St. Paul, comprising the state of Minnesota and the territories of Dakota, Montana and Washington Territory on the Pacific coast, through which the Northern Pacific runs, and which is to furnish the business of that great trans-continental line. The last rail of the trans-continental line was laid at 3 p. m., on the 32d instant, and the formal celebration of the opening will take place on the 3d of September, on and after which date through passenger and freight trains will run between St Paul and Portland. The enormous development of this region during the twelve months ending June 30, 1883, is shown by the report of the commissioner of the general land office at Washington, which shows that 18,000,000 acres of public lands have been taken up during the last year, which was 20 per cent. more than has ever been taken up in any previous year in the history of the government; and its very magnitude indicates the rapidity with which the public domain is being absorbed. Nearly one-half of these lands were taken up in the single territory of Dakota In Montana 407,000 acres were taken up last year, as against 197,000 acres in the previous year, and in Washington Territory, 1,200,000 acres were taken up during the fiscal year, against 412,000 in the year 1882. In Dakota, 6,550,000 acres are entered, as against 4,568,000 acres in 1882. These figures show where the immigrants went to last year. It is estimated that Dakota increased its population 100,000, and that not less than 30,000 people settled in Washington Territory. When it is remembered that the settlers who have gone to Washington Territory have had to go by way of San Francisco, and there take steamer to Portland, Ore., and then back to the interior country by rail, it will be apparent that the expense of moving a family from the Mississippi valley to Washington Territory is as great as the entire cost of a Dakota farm. This movement of settlers into Washington Territory has been remarkable.

"The stimulus given to settlement in northern Dakota, Montana and Washington Territory is directly attributable to the construction of the Northern Pacific road, the line which ten years ago, on the failure of Jay Cooke, the wildest visionary did not expect to see completed within half a century, if ever.

"Of the public lands which have been taken up during the last fiscal year, 3,093 entries, representing 434,000 acres, were taken up in Minnesota within the limits of the Northern Pacific railroad grant, that is, within forty miles of each side of the road. In Dakota, within the railroad limits, 8,327 entries were made, representing 1,295,000 acres. In Montana, within the railroad limits, 1,834 entries were made, representing 246,000 acres, and in Washington Territory, 6,720 entries, representing 930,000 acres. These 20,968 separate entries of government lands represent not less than 16,000 separate heads of families, who have taken 2,905,000 acres of land of the even numbered sections of public lands lying and adjacent to the Northern Pacific railroad, within the last twelve months. This represents an immediately producing population, which is to give business to that great road, and it also represents settlement and improvement of the lands adjoining the sections still owned by the railroad company, and this settlement has largely enhanced the value of the adjacent railroad lands. So much for the entries on public lands. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1883, the land department of the Northern Pacific have been busy bringing settlers and making sales of its lands. The entire land grant—owned and now earned by the construction of the line is upwards of 42,000,000 acres, and stretches for fifty miles on each side of the line of road in the territories, and forty miles in the states, from Lake Superior to Puget Sound. The sales of land made by the land department within the year were 761,236 acres, for $3,061,860 In addition to these sales of land, the department sold town lots along the line of the railroad to the value of $330,971, making a total for the fiscal year of $3,395,831. Of the land sold by the railroad company, 417,280 acres were sold at the Minnesota and Dakota division, which includes all of Minnesota and that portion of Dakota lying east of the Missouri river; 110,033 acres were sold on the Missouri division, lying between the Missouri river and the Yellowstone; 6,568 acres were sold on the Yellowstone valley, 33,940 acres in central Montana, 185,360 acres on the Pend d'Oreille division and eastern Washington Territory, and 26,946 acres on the Pacific division, between Portland and Puget Sound. The business of the department has almost doubled that of last year, and the average price per acre at which the lands were sold is about $4 in 1883, being an increase of 76 cents per acre over the sales of the preceding year

"The establishment of the new capital of Dakota on the line of the Northern Pacific railroad has served to draw general attention to the value of the rich lands lying in the Missouri valley and westward. The capital was located on the 4th of June last, and within thirty days from that time so great was the rush of outside capital to invest property at Bismarck that the deposits in the banks increased nearly one million dollars. The territory received a donation of $100,000 in money from the citizens of Bismarck and 320 acres, and a guarantee of $300,000 more. All this land is to be applied to the construction of the capitol building, and within the next two years Dakota will have a capitol building the cost of which will exceed $400,000 without incurring one dollar's obligation, all the money being furnished by the donation of the cash above named, and from the sale of the land donated to the territory at that point. The Northern Pacific Railroad company advanced the price of its first-class lands, within fifty miles of Bismarck $1 per acre when the capital was located at that point, and during the month of June alone 26,000 acres of these lands were sold at $5 per acre and upwards.

"There is no question as to the value of agricultural lands owned by the Northern Pacific Railroad company. Jay Cooke was right when he said that the country traversed by this road was the best on any road between the Atlantic and the Pacific. The lands in Dakota are better than those of Kansas and Nebraska. The grazing lands of Montana are vastly superior to those of Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico, and throughout the entire valleys of this inter mountain state farming has been profitably carried on for the last fifteen years, and all these valleys are now dotted over with prosperous farms.

"Helena, the capital of Montana, grew to be a prosperous city without railroads, the richest city per capita, perhaps, in the United States, as with only 6,000 inhabitants she already has four national banks, with a combined capital of $1,000,000 and deposits to the amount of $4,000,000. I doubt whether there is another city of 6,000 inhabitants in the United States which can show such wealth.

"The growth of the towns on the line of the Northern Pacific railroad has been somewhat phenomenal, all the larger places having increased, and there is scarcely a village that has not quadrupled its population within the last twelve months. New towns have sprung up which boast a population of 500 or 1,000 souls, with an established mercantile business, hotels and telegraph offices, where, twelve months ago, there was not a single house. At Livingston, in the Yellowstone Valley, the town was laid out and the first lot was sold less than eight months ago, and to-day there is a population of over 2,000 people, and the railroad company is the gainer to the extent of $200,000 from the sale of lots at that place. At Townsend, another new town in central Montana, on the banks of the Missouri river, about 500 people have gathered since the railroad was completed to that point, two months ago. The railroad has sold over $20,000 worth of lots at this point and a $10,000 hotel is already in process of erection. Out in Washington Territory, where the settler comes from the westward, by way of San Francisco and the ocean, the towns of Spokane Falls, Sprague and Cheney have added fifty per cent to their population. From all reports it is probable that the next great boom in settlement will be the immigration to Washington Territory. The climate is less severe than that of Dakota, and the land is remarkably rich and productive. The Northern Pacific Railroad company has over 10,000,000 acres of splendid agricultural lands in Washington Territory. West of the Cascade range comes the great timber belt of the Pacific slope. Into this region new capital is going, and new sawmills and manufacturing establishments are rapidly being built."

No one speaks after the king, and so I must leave you with the colonel's story, much as I would like to tell you of the importance of this northeastern terminus of the colonel's road, this Duluth of which Proctor Knott knew so little, but which in time is destined to play so important a part in the development of the great west. Here are huge ocean steamers, that is, they are as large as a Cunarder, and they bring coal from Buffalo, 1,200 miles, at eighty five cents per ton. Here the wheat and the cattle of the great west will find water transit, with transhipment at Buffalo, which gives extraordinarily cheap transportation to the seaboard. This is the point a kind of finger's point, opening up the western hemisphere to the outer world of which the Kentuckian humorist knew so little; but Duluth now has a morning and two evening papers, with a third on the stocks, and a street railroad and a grand opera house, with white sails coming and going. Already Minneapolis is alarmed, for that city has millions invested in flour mills, and the roar of its waterfall cannot drown or drown the grumbling of the millers, who are on half time, for wheat and not Minneapolis flour is sent to the eastward.

The New York democrats are justly alarmed at the news from Ohio

It is claimed by ex-Senator Sharon's friends that the charge of adultery brought against that gentleman by Miss Hill has been inspired by his political enemies.

We learn that many of those who left Colorado for Oregon and Washington some months ago would willingly give their bottom dollar if they had one to get back

The Grand Junction News thinks that Denver is a good place to emigrate from, and one of the last places for a young man to go to who looks for a future in Colorado.

Mr F W Roebling, the son of the great engineer who designed the Brooklyn bridge, is now prominently mentioned as a republican candidate for governor of New Jersey

Lord Rosebery, who married a daughter of one of the London Rothschilds a few years since has concluded to make a visit to America, a country, he says, which has always been dear to him

The late Judge Black received from the New Almaden Quicksilver company, of California, a fee of $250,000 for defending it in a case before the United States supreme court, the largest fee ever paid to a lawyer

It is expected that the main line of the Mexican Central railroad, between El Paso and the City of Mexico, will be completed and opened for business on the 4th of July next. Some 450 miles remain to be completed

The North German Gazette, Bismarck's organ, now says that no notice will be taken of the filibustering schemes of France unless German interests are affected thereby. This looks less warlike than the late utterances of that paper

Our foreign trade is favorable. Since the 1st of January our imports of specie have exceeded $10,000,000, against a little over $2,000,000 for the same time last year. Importations of specie during the balance of the year are expected to be larger

The first volume of Houghton, Mifflin & Co's. new series, 'American Commonwealths," will appear this month. It treats of Virginia, and the author is John Esten Cooke. Pennsylvania will be written up by the Hon Wayne MacVeagh

Great excitement prevails in Nelson county West Virginia, owing to the recent discovery of large bodies of ore, which mineralogists pronounce to be very rich in [illegible]. Hundreds of persons have already gone into the region, although the discovery was only made last month

The Portland Oregonian says that the Navajo Indians will have a wool clip this year of 800,000 pounds, and will handle in addition 600,000 pounds of hides and pelts. The paper seems to think that this settles the "Indian problem" so far as the Navajoes are concerned

The greenbackers of New York have dwindled down in numbers to but little more than a corporal's guard, but they have held a convention and nominated a ticket nevertheless. They undoubtedly want to be ready for the next financial storm for which they probably pray as earnestly as do Nasby's friends at the Cross Roads

Senator Dawes has been made chairman of the committee on resolutions of the coming Massachusetts republican convention. Under the circumstances the position is an important one. Senator Dawes, though by no means a great man, is a sensible and discreet one, and being thoroughly conversant with the politics of his state will not be likely to make any serious mistakes.

A Gunnison correspondent of one of the Denver dailies says that the building of the large iron and steel works at that place has been postponed until next spring. He might have said postponed forever. There never was the least intention on the part of any man or set of men to put up the works alluded to. The whole thing was gotten up to start a boom in real estate. Had the works been erected upon the scale spoken of at the time they could not have been sold to any intelligent iron maker for one cent on the dollar

We trust that the reported total destruction of the corn and sorghum crops of Wisconsin by frost may turn out to be exaggerated. It is scarcely probable that the loss is so great as now represented. That it is very heavy is altogether likely. The season has been so backward that two or three weeks of favorable weather was necessary to put corn out of danger. Much of that grain in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Northern Illinois is still in "the milk" and in a condition to be greatly injured by such a frost as is reported in Wisconsin, still it is not likely that the destruction of the crop has been so complete and general as the first reports would indicate.

The following item clipped from an eastern paper doubtless expresses the prevailing sentiment east of the Mississippi, and shows why mines and mining shares are so much more difficult to dispose of now than formerly. "If there is any one element of speculation in this country that has run its course it is that of mining for the precious metals. Altogether there never was conceived in the mind of man a plan so well calculated to extract money from the pockets of the people, without equivalent as the system of mining speculation which has just spent its force throughout the country. It was a bold scheme of robbery, it deluded millions and ruined many thousands and the country will rejoice at its downfall."

We hope that success may attend the efforts of Henry M Stanley to establish civilized colonies in the heart of Africa. It is rather singular that in this age of adventure and research so promising a field for the making of money and acquisition of power as that presented by the 'Dark Continent" should have to so great an extent been overlooked. Mr. Stanley's first journey through Africa revealed to the world the hidden treasures that exist in its profound depths. A country whose soil is so productive that, over an area of millions of square miles, vegetation is so luxuriant as almost to defy the advance of a well appointed expedition, where a considerable population can exist almost without labor, and where the soil "laughs with a harvest" when tickled with the rudest implements of agriculture, should surely not be allowed to remain much longer a terra incognita

Mr Poor in his Railroad Manual for 1883 expresses the opinion that in the states of Ohio, New York and perhaps some others, no additional railroads will be needed unless with the object of developing some particular interest such as opening up newly discovered coal mines or their ore deposits, the present mileage in such states supplying all the means and facilities required. While it may be true that for a few years to come certain states can get along with their present transportation facilities it is not at all likely that they will answer for all time to come or even for the next decade. There is no reason why New York, Pennsylvania or Ohio should not need within the next generation as many miles of railroad as England, and doubtless persons now living will live to see their mileage doubled or perhaps quadrupled. In this rapidly growing country it requires a bold man to set bounds to the growth of any branch of business, and the prophecies of the most sanguine generally fall far below actual accomplishments. We will give one illustration. In 1868, only fifteen years ago, the total production of steel of all kinds in the United States was over 15,000 tons. There was no reason to believe at that time that a largely increased production would be needed for many years, yet last year there were made and all consumed in this country 1,500,000 tons of steel, the make having increased one hundred fold in fifteen years. We think too, that Mr. Poor's belief that no more trunk lines will be needed between the east and west to serve as carriers will be found to be erroneous. The present population of Missouri is a little over two millions. It can, and doubtless will, probably within another century, support as large a population to the square mile as Massachusetts. When that time comes its population will be over fifteen millions. Texas, with a like density of population, will have fifty millions. It is not hazarding much to say that when the whole Mississippi valley is populated to a like extent very many times the present mileage of east and west trunk lines will be needed. It is doubtless true that the building of railroads has been somewhat overdone. So has the manufacture of cotton and woolen goods, and the building of iron and steel works, but no one is foolish enough to assert that the country now has all the cotton, woolen and iron mills it will need for all time, excepting a few that may be profitably run in the manufacture of specialties. Were we to cease building railroads altogether for a single year it would probably be a good thing for the country and for the roads already built, but a cessation for any considerable length of time would undoubtedly lead to inconvenience and a retardation of the country's growth

Muldoon Made a Victim

The San Francisco Post tells a good story of Wrestler Muldoon. Charley Duane, Senator McCarty, Jim Brizel, John Gilbert, the comedian, and other jokers kept talking to Muldoon about a blacksmith named McFadden who, they claimed, had originated a peculiar manner of bracing his feet so as to render his being thrown an impossibility. The champion blandly explained to the boys that any such foothold was out of the question and illustrated the fact that no matter how big and heavy a wrestler might be, he was able to be lifted clear off his feet

"That's all very well, but" said Duane shaking his head solemnly, "but you haven't tried this man McFadden yet. I'd like to bet a basket of champagne for the crowd that you can't budge him"

The bet was accepted and in an hour or two one of the plotters rushed in and informed the crowd that McFadden was in the saloon just opposite, and was willing to wrestle off hand

"That's the man, is it?" asked Muldoon grimly, as they entered the saloon and discovered a short, thick set individual standing in the middle of the floor, with his feet braced about two feet apart and with a do-or-die expression on his face. "Well, I'll make it two baskets that I flop him in three minutes by the clock.

"Done" shouted the crowd, and, catching a favorite grip on the blacksmith, Muldoon gave a little preliminary tussle and a tremendous side wrench that would have uprooted a lamp post

But the other man didn't budge

There was a roar from all hands, and the champion backed off from his opponent and looked at him with an astonished expression that was as good as a play

"Well, I'll be —— be blowed!" he muttered, and taking off his coat and vest, he rolled up his sleeves with an expression that meant a cold and a slippery evening for the other man. Quick as lightning he caught his favorite neck lock on the blacksmith, and twisting his shoulders under the little man's chin, gave a heave that would have sent an ordinary man through the ceiling

But the other man never budged

After some frightful efforts, Muldoon dropped his hold with a scared expression, and staggering over to a chair, wiped his face.

"Boys," said the athlete, huskily, "this lets me out. My heart's broke. I'll never wrestle any more." And amid the "joshing" of his friends he led the party back to his quarters and set up the wine

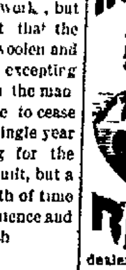

While the crowd was pouring down the Roederer and grinning at each other like hyenas digging up a missionary, the bull dozed champion stepped out to see what had become of the blacksmith. As he entered one door of the saloon he saw his opponent walking out of the other in his stocking feet. In the middle of the room stood a huge pair of laced brogans

They were screwed to the floor.

A Fight Among the Brigands

St James Gazette

The operations of a notorious brigand in Macedonia, by name Bilal Aga, have been brought to a close under somewhat remarkable circumstances. Bilal Aga was the leader of a band of twenty four brigands, and for some time past has been the terror of the caravans which go between Salonica and the interior. It was his practice to lie in ambush with his band in the difficult defiles of the mountains through which several of the main routes led, and to pounce down upon the caravans when there was the least chance of resistance or escape. He also diversified his proceedings occasionally by attacking and robbing travelers, whom he murdered when he happened to be in a bloodthirsty mood. He and his band held the whole district in terror and although efforts were made by the authorities to capture them, they continued to exact their contributions with the utmost audacity until the other day, when trouble befell them from an unexpected quarter. There is another equally famous brigand in the district, by name Naum, also the leader of a band. Naum does not stick at trifles, but his disposition is rather more amiable than that of Bilal, and with a good nature that does him credit, he advised Bilal to spare the lives of certain rich villagers whom he lately captured. Bilal disregarded this advice and killed the villagers. Naum was displeased at what he considered a personal insult to himself, and consequently a fight took place near the River Kalamitza between the bands of the two brigands, the result being that the whole of Bilal's band was killed, while Naum lost only four men. Bilal himself escaped, but by latest accounts Naum was close upon his heels.

VERY, VERY SORE.

That Is How the Denver Independents Feel.

The Denver base ballists begin to feel very sore over the repeated drubbing they are receiving at the hands of the Colorado Springs Reds. Out of four games played they have lost three. Last Saturday they sent their crack organization, the Independents, down in sort of even up things. A scrub nine, picked up for the occasion, went into the field and defeated them.

Now they resort to the columns of the Tribune through which they do considerable crying, and try to create a little sympathy in their favor by issuing a challenge to the Reds to play another game for $50 or $100.

We are authorized by the secretary of the Reds to state that they are not playing ball for money, but merely for the enjoyment and recreation they can derive from it, but any time the Independents want to play a social game of ball, arrangements can be made by addressing the secretary at Colorado Springs. The Independents try to make out that they played against the umpire, which is a better excuse than none. As for the umpire he was a Denver man and was selected by the Independents. That he was not thoroughly well posted in the rules of the game we will admit, but that he deliberately gave a single decision in favor of the Reds we deny. On account of rainy weather the gate receipts were very small but no smaller than the writer has seen taken at the gate in that metropolitan city. We have one piece of advice to give the Denver clubs, viz: Issue fewer [illegible] challenges, do less kicking and play more base ball.

Crested Butte Notes.

In the GAZETTE of the 7th inst, and the [illegible] Cunnl on Towns" it was stated that the Forest Queen mine had turned out, in the past twelve months, over $80 000. It should have read $180,000—quite another matter.

About two weeks ago a man named Barter, who has a number of "prospects" in Poverty Gulch, all of which were, of course, for sale, took a notion to ship a carload of ore from one of his claims, on which he had gone deepest. So he sacked about 8 tons of stuff just as it lay on the dump—good, bad and indifferent and a great deal of which was, of course, waste dirt and valueless rock, and shipped it to Denver. He has just received a check for $817, being the proceeds of the 8 tons, and a proposition to buy all the ore he can ship. His sensations can be imagined. He is now hiring men and teams and will ship from this and his other claims, as much and as fast as possible. Other prospectors, similarly situated, who have been waiting all summer for buyers for their claims, are now shipping, or getting ready to ship, sample car loads, in order to see what they have. The result will doubtless be some valuable discoveries, and an era of prosperity for Crested Butte. Last Sunday Poverty Gulch was filled with young fellows from town re-locating old claims which they have not been able to work out the assessment upon.

The Hon. H A W. Tabor and wife, Steve McCourt and Miss Claude McCourt brother and sister of Mrs Tabor, are at Crested Butte. Governor Tabor has large interests in this section. He has a bank in this town and owns the "Tam O'Shanter" group of mines at Ashcroft, twenty miles away. These mines, although not running to anything like their full capacity, are shipping 40 tons per day of $90 ore, netting the governor $40 per ton profit, or $1,000 every twenty four hours.

Dead-Drunk

CHICAGO September 10 —A man named Lewis Lacey got on a street car to night in a drunken condition and refused to pay fare. The conductor threw him off the platform, and seeing that he did not move told the driver to whip up. The car rattled away and the conductor escaped. Police were sent in search of the fleeing conductor. After being on ice a short time the body began to show signs of life, and in the course of half an hour he was able to walk to the police station. Examination showed that the man was not seriously hurt but was in a state of coma due to liquor.

Yellow Fever

Longevity of Amherst Graduates

Springfield Union

More than half of the graduates from Amherst College from 1822 to 1833 lived to the limit of three score years and ten, and more than one-fourth are still living. Thirteen of these survivors are eighty years of age, the oldest eighty four. The oldest deceased graduates were eighty six. The class of '22, Prof Snell's, is the only class that is wholly starred. Two of the three members were seventy nine and seventy five. The class of '23 numbered five, two of whom still live at the ages of eighty one and eighty three. The largest class that graduated for forty years is the class of '31, numbering sixty. It has twenty-four survivors, all over seventy years of age. Wellington H Tyler, the founder of Maplewood Seminary, was the salutatorian of that class. The class of '33, numbering thirty eight, has twenty one, more than half, still living. The obituary record for the year ending June 27, 1883, reports thirty six deaths averaging 61 5-9 years. Seven were over 80, nine between 70 and 80, nine between 60 and 70, six between 50 and 60, six between 20 and 30. —The class of '24 loses three, leaving Prof Chas Upham Shephard as the only survivor in a class of twenty. He will be eighty next June 20. Long may he be spared to represent a brilliant class which had such men as Prof Bela B Edwards, who died at 50, Rev. William T Howland, who died at 84, during the last college year, Dr Austin Richards, who died last May at 83, Rev. Justin Marsh, who died at the age of 76, Rev John Adams Nash, the veteran teacher, agriculturist and abolitionist, known to American students as principal of Mount Pleasant Institute from '46 to '54, a brother in law of Prof Snell, who died of nervous prostration at the age of 79, Rev George D Sheppard, professor of Bangor Theological Seminary, founder of the Natural History Society at Amherst college, whose selections were the beginning of its cabinets, who died with his harness on of pneumonia, at 67, Rev Dr George C Sheppard, brother of the professor, who died at Amherst while rector of Grace church, at the age of 66. Prof C U Shepard, '24, and Prof. Wm S Tayler, one of seven survivors of '30, must by all means try to live to be a hundred, or the impression will be that Amherst classes are mortal.

SECRET

THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.

SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.

It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent cures in three days.

REMEMBER

that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for RHEUMATISM, GOUT and NEURALGIA. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly.

They report a very enjoyable time.

Officers McCabe and Clark had a lively tussle at the corner of Pike's Peak avenue and Tejon street last night with Reddy, one of The Antlers waiters. He was in an intoxicated condition and resisted arrest but they finally succeeded in getting him in the jail. It is the second or third time that he has given the Colorado Springs officers an exhibition of his strength.

THE

Seven Lakes Hotel

IS NOW OPEN

It is the highest Hotel of the kind in the world and in the highest forest.

The principal lake is 80 feet deep and one mile in diameter; is the highest in the world, 11,432 feet above tide water [Report of the U. S. Signal Service.

It has the highest sail boats in the world.

"The road via Cheyenne Canon and Beaver Park to Pike's Peak, about 13,000 feet, is the highest carriage road in the world, and the volcanic crater, within which are the Hotel and Lakes, is the highest and largest in the world. It does not militate against the crater that it has but one opening."—[Chancellor of the Kansas State University.

Professor Spring says: "The scenery is extraordinary, sublime beyond description."

Said the pyrotechnist who made the fire works for the great Masonic celebration in Chicago: "I never felt so near the Great White Throne as when beholding these stupendous remains of God Almighty's fire works."

Rev. H. G. Crane says: "Along the Cheyenne road, and at the Lakes, the views are glorious. By the old lake-bed, over 13,000 feet in the air, I found many precious crystals. I have never felt so happy since my marriage day."

Hon. Mrs. Crane: "All this, and heaven too."

Bierstedt, the Rocky Mountain artist: "I never grow weary of looking at it. It changes every hour. Cheyenne mountain, over the crest of which runs the road to the Lakes and Pike's Peak, is the only mountain in the world which rises without a base. From the prairies it boldly springs up 4,000 feet."

Various journals, notably the Atlantic Monthly, and "H. H." speak kindly of the House, Lakes and road.

Oh, for some kind friend to kick me up another hill," said Mark Twain before the road was made.

The water and highly developed air, ozone (progressed oxygen) cure many diseases. Exhaustion, nervousness and every symptom of paralysis disappear. So with many lung and heart troubles.

The Hotel is four miles from Pike's Peak (official survey); carriage way three miles. Everything in Hostelry, Guides, Couriers, Horses, Burros, Tents, Lunches, etc., furnished at reasonable rates. Goat's or cow's milk for invalids. Stage twice a week. Address or call on
